Staff Training

This month the staff have had phonetical training with our senior manager.

This will help to further promote language across all ages and promote children's communication, language and literacy skills.

National Story Telling Week

26th January - 2nd February

Everyone loves narrative and storytelling - it's something about a story's beginning, middle and end that makes us feel more of a completeness and understanding of our own lives.

National Storytelling Week is here to celebrate our most ancient art form of all. From retelling something that's happened in your day; reading a night time story to a child; or watching a plot unfold on TV - storytelling is a part of our own everyday lives and the entertainment we get from movies, programmes, plays and other powerful performances.

To celebrate, we are asking children to bring in their favourite stories to share with their friends. We will also be doing lots of creative activities linked to these stories.

Pear Tree Class

The children have had lots of fun exploring the different textures and materials in the heuristic areas within the room, this is an opportunity to use open ended resources to encourage creative thinking and explore different schemas, this is a great way of encouraging the children's imagination along with their Physical development.

We are very keen to still go outside even when the weather isn't so nice, so please if you have them can you bring in all in one suits or suitable coats, so we are still able to take the babies out please.

Willow Tree Class

The children have been focusing on language this month, from naming objects to learning new vocabulary such as describing words, this is a great area that can be continued at home, when you are out for the day or even at the shop's!

The children have enjoyed going on listening walks in the garden, commenting on the sounds they can hear around them such as birds, cars and an aero plane. Please encourage your child with this at home.

Oak Tree Class

The children have been developing their fine motor skills whilst taking part in observational drawings, they showed a great deal of concentration and enjoyment at what they had produced. The children will be able to extend their interest of drawing throughout story telling week.

This month as part of children's council the children talked about how they like the garden equipment especially the swings, they also talked about how they like to share their toys from home with their friends that they got for Christmas!
